June 2019 Newsletter

Call for projects

Although the ministère de l'Éducation et de l'Enseignement supérieur has confirmed that the Regroupement lavallois pour la réussite éducative (RLPRE) will be receiving funding for 2019–2020, the available amounts and eligibility criteria are still unknown, so we cannot issue a call for projects at this time. You will receive an invitation to submit your funding requests via e-mail as soon as those details are made available.

At the Consultation Forum on October 26, 2018, we learned about our members' situations and concerns with regard to the funding request processes. We want you to know that we do want to improve the format of the calls for projects so that they better meet your needs. Unfortunately, because of the late confirmations, the tight deadlines, and the unclear picture of the funding criteria, there will be no way for us to implement new methods this year. We will keep you updated as soon as we learn more.

Defining educational success for the Laval region

Following a process of strategic thinking and consultation with stakeholders in various sectors, the RLPRE has adopted a shared, inclusive definition to explain its vision of educational success.

“Educational success is a shared responsibility requiring the support of all members of society. Educational success means developing people’s life skills, knowledge, expertise and abilities for the duration of their entire lives. It demands environments that are conducive to each person developing their potential on every level—physical, intellectual, emotional, social and moral—so that they can live fulfilling personal, social and professional lives and in so doing contribute fully to the development of society.”

This definition promotes understanding of the importance of the RLPRE's mission: to engage stakeholders in the pursuit of educational success. It calls on everyone to acknowledge their power to act and identify themselves as agents for change in favour of educational success. With a view to continuing dialogue on the topic and getting everyone to embrace the definition, the RLPRE is planning to produce an animated video and other communications tools illustrating the many ways we can work to ensure educational success and the roles that the various stakeholders can play in pursuit of that goal.

Does this definition appeal to you? Has it sparked a reaction? Are you interested in getting involved by joining a working committee to develop awareness and engagement tools? Write to us at irclaval@cslaval.qc.ca.

Participez à la campagne pour la valorisation de la lecture

lirecasevit.com

This summer, reading is... sowing!

All throughout the summer, the verb SEMER (“to plant seeds”) will be the highlight of the Lire, ça se vit! campaign. At the Centre de la nature on June 16, the RLPRE handed out bookmarks, seed papers and ideas for making reading fun to some 300 families.

We encourage you to do as we do, and invite the families you know to sow the seeds of reading! The campaign offers you a wealth of free tools, including a how-to guide, summer reading suggestions, and ideas for fun reading-related activities. For inspiration, or to download or order materials, visit www.lirecasevit.com/semmer.
